Atelier Bonk is a pur sang collaboration. The label sprouted out of a creative clash between Stefaan De Croock aka Strook (www.strook.eu) and Tim Baute, known from Interror (www.interror.be). Strook is graphic art all the way, typical two-dimensional and fetterless. Interror is an interior label, creating furniture and lighting with center focus on functional design. Atelier Bonk is the fusion of these two brains into one creative studio.

The biggest challenge Atelier Bonk faces is to translate Strooks two-dimensional graphic art into volume. The 2D-world has few limitations but for designing furniture and accessories the rules are different. Ease of use, quality, production and durability lurk at every corner. And that makes the collaboration special. Atelier Bonk is the twilight zone where Strooks talent meets Interrors skills. Explicit graphical furniture and accessories, with eye for quality, usability and durability.
